

The customized system are capable of analyzing the product structure: Simulate Inner strength between different materials; Simulate CTE between different materials, which can help the engineers effectively.